LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, MARCH 1, 1900.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

LANCASTER AND VICINITY.

To Our Subscribers.

We will take it as a personal favor if you will make prompt report to this office if you fail to receive your copy of THE RECORD each issue. You pay us for it, and we pay a pretty stiff price for delivering it, so it is justice that some one be called to books if you do not get your paper. Please report any failure, and probably by our endeavors, with the assistance of Uncle Sam, we can have the wrong righted. If you fail to get the paper, make a note of the issue missed, and send to us.

Camille tonight.

See W. J. Romans' fine line of harness before you buy.

Our stock of Venetian Cloth is elegant. Call and examine. J. Joseph.

Handsome line of Laces ever on display in Central Kentucky at J. Joseph's.

Miss Dove Harris requests THE RECORD to say that the report that she was to open a millinery store is incorrect.

We have placed on tables 200 pairs ladies button shoes that sold from $1.50 to $4.00, all small sizes, that we will sell from 75c to $1.50. Come and get a bargain. Logan & Robinson.

Mules to Work.

I have a lot of good, strong young mules that I will let out to be worked until August 1st. Apply to R. W. Lee, on the Gran. Cecil farm, on Salt river, Boyle county. marl-1m.

They say that if you want to live long let the other fellow do the worrying. So quit worrying and go to Conn's shop where prices are right and you will receive such nice attention that your troubles will vanish away.

Night In Chinatown.

The weather was so cold that only a few people went to the Opera House to see the above named performance. The company has some clever people, and when the performance is given as it should be, and not cut, it must be first-class. As it was, it did not come up to the expectations. It must be a pretty hard task for an actor to do his best before empty seats.

Stock Paper Changes Hands.

Mr. Desha Breckinridge has purchased the American Stock Farm, the leading stock paper published in the South, and will have full control of same. Mr. Breckinridge took charge of the Lexington Herald, when that paper had been allowed to run down considerably, and has made it one of the best dailies in Kentucky. He is a man well-versed on stock matters and his success with the Stock Farm is a foregone conclusion. The Stock Farm is already a visitor to many homes and under the new management will find its way to many more welcome firesides. All stock men should take a good paper devoted exclusively to such matters, and we know of none better than the above named journal.

General Gordon.

General John B. Gordon, the eminent soldier and statesman, will deliver his new lecture, "The First Days of the Confederacy," at the opera house in Danville the night of March 13th, instead of the 14th, as first announced. A large audience will greet the veteran.

Mr. Bastin, the gentlemanly manager of the telephone system, has kindly offered to donate all the proceeds of the system for March 9 and 10, Friday and Saturday, of next week, to the fund for erecting the Cemetery gate. Every cent taken in by the exchange on these days will be given to this cause. The company has pay stations at both the Garrard and Mason hotels, and all the drug stores, so if you want to help in this move, send your messages on those days. Remember, Friday and Saturday, March 9 and 10.

Good-1 Monument Fund.

Mrs. Geo. Farris, who was appointed by the state Monumental Society to take charge of the matter in this county, has appointed the following ladies to receive subscriptions and assist in the work: Miss Eliza Lusk, Miss Lizzie Brown, Mrs. T. B. Robinson, Mrs. J. M. Logan, Mrs. T. C. Guiley, Miss May Jenkins, Mrs. W. L. Lawson, Mrs. W. S. Fish. These ladies will receive contributions and see that they are properly credited, and the certificates issued. Each contributor will be given a handsome certificate, bearing the picture of Wm. Goebel. Those who fail to see any of these parties, Mrs. Farris has made arrangements with Laura Smith, at Miss Salie Tillet's millinery store, to receive the same. All contributions, no matter how small, will be thankfully received, and a certificate given each contributor. This movement was gotten up by the ladies of Kentucky, and is making good progress towards giving a handsome contribution toward the monument. Those contemplating giving anything, should come forward at once, and let Garrard be among the first to report to the state organization.

All This Week.

The Chapman-Warren company has been playing to crowded houses at the Garrard all this week, and the sale for tonight's performance, Camille, is the largest ever made at the house. The Chapman-Warren people are far superior to any company yet in this city, and their repertoire consists of higher-class plays. The shows are clean, and prettily staged. The actors are first-class, and the specialties up to the average. The patrons are delighted with the performances, which fact is evidenced by the large attendance. Miss Blanche Warren, while quite young, is among the few really talented actresses seen in the smaller towns, and her work is applauded frequently at each performance. She is possessed with an ease and grace that make her a great favorite early in the play, and which is kept up throughout each performance. Misses Glen, Rice and Hart are clever in their work and frequently given applause. Messrs Will Chapman, T. S. Shephard, E. J. Lee, Earl Adams and the rest of the company are exceedingly clever people, and display much talent and energy in their work. A matinee will be given Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, which is especially for ladies and children.

Old Si Plunkard Monday night.

New stock of fancy tissue papers for decoration at Thompson's.

T. Currey will pay highest price in cash or produce for eggs.

The Proctor Knott cigar leads 'em all in easy drawing and fragrant smoke.

We have some lovely and handsome presents, or premiums, that we give our customers. Call and investigate. J. Joseph.

Our line of Plaids is given up to be the handsomest ever seen in Lancaster. Call and see them, and you are sure to be pleased. J. Joseph.

You will see the largest and most complete line of all kinds of buggies, surreys, phaetons and road wagons ever brought to Lancaster.

Lewis, supported by his Big Comedy Company in his new version of the well known laughing success, Si Plunkard. This company is noted for carrying the finest orchestra of any company on the road. The thieves broke two locks to gain admission.

Senator Farris Here.

Senator George T. Farris came home and spent Saturday and Sunday with his family. He looks none the worse since his chase about Frankfort with the malitia and says he is still in the best of spirits and feels none the worse for wear. He tells THE RECORD that he thinks the legislature will sit out the sixty days' limit, but he believes that an extra session will be necessary to attend to important matters that were not reached this time. This he thinks will be done, no matter who is declared governor, as it will be absolutely necessary. During the present term, Senator Farris introduced a bill to compel railroads to fence their lines, a bill to amend the constitution so as to return to the old-fashioned five voice vote of voting, and to prohibit corporations from contributing to campaign funds. By some hook or crook, another member got through a bill on the same order. Mr. Farris has been a leader in his party conferences, and during all the recent troubles has pleaded for his party to keep cool, and let the law take its course. He returned to Frankfort Monday night.

The Colored School.

The Lancaster colored school closed last week, after a most prosperous term. It began in August last, under the direction of Prof. Jas. A. White, principal, assisted by Misses Mary V. Richey and Willie B. Lackey, of this city. Prof. White tells THE RECORD that great interest was shown by the pupils throughout the entire time and much progress made. Prof. White is considered by the patrons of the school as one of the best instructors they have had, and his work had given great satisfaction to both pupils and parents. The attendance shows an increase over the two years previous, which fact is attributed to the untiring work of Prof. White and his assistants to keep the pupils interested. It is gratifying to know that the colored people are giving more attention to the matter of education, and strive to keep their children in school. During his stay here, Prof. White has attended strictly to his own business and worked for the interest of the school. Five pupils passed creditable examinations for completing the common school course. They were Lemon H. Owens, Marietta M. Leavell, Amanda B. Lackey, Mary L. Yantis and Mary A. Cunningham. The closing exercises were held at the Court-house, and were witnessed by large crowds, and a great many white people attending. E. M. Embury, a lawyer of Richmond, and editor of the Rambler, a colored paper, addressed the graduates. The exercises were equal to any previously held and were highly creditable.

Verre Van My Leche Dog?

Bro. Harry McCarthy, of the Nicholasville Journal, was on the war path last week over the loss of his dog. The canine got mixed with the soldiers on duty there at that time, and showed up missing. We hope our good friend has recovered his pet.

"Somebody stole Harry's big bull dog. And he wishes they'd bring it back. To run big delinquents over the fence, And little ones through the crack."

Divide Kentucky?

Some one suggested that Kentucky be divided and parcelled out to her sister states. This led Harry Giovannoli, of the Danville Advocate, to open his head and speak thusly:

Mangle her form and scatter the remnants into Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Tennessee!

Ohio, whose coat of arms is a picture of pretzels rampant and "hot weenie" pendant and a country which the Lord Himself separated from us by a river a mile too wide to swim and too deep to ford?

Illinois, where men make sausage out of their wives and a State whose proudest production is the Chicago drainage canal?

Tennessee, where they have yellow fever one-half the year and chills and fever the other half?

Indiana, a State where votes and neck in the market reports?

Let Kentucky play second fiddle to these?

Yes, when the freight trains pull the locomotive, when the procession leads the brass band and the elephant is no longer to be found in the menagerie.

Gen. Gordon's Lecture.

Gen. John B. Gordon, the Commander-in-Chief of the United Confederate Veterans, will lecture at the opera house in Danville Tuesday night, March thirteenth, not on the 14th, as first announced. He will give his brilliant new lecture on "The First Days of the Confederacy." General Gordon's visit to Danville on this occasion will be made an event of especial interest by the old soldiers, both federal and confederate. There is no more distinguished southern and no grander statesman, orator and patriot than General Gordon. Seats for this lecture at Danville will be sold at seventy-five cents.

Court Day.

The extreme cold kept many from coming to court Monday, and only a very small crowd was here. Those who braved the weather stood around huddled together like sheep to keep warm. Trading was rather dull up town, but at the stock pens business was brisk, considering everything. There were five hundred cattle at the pens, and most of them changed hands at from 3 to 5 cents. The demand for good ones was fair. Butcher stuff brought 3 to 4cts. Demand for first class hogs was good. A number on hand were sold at from 34 to 4cts. The managers of the pens request THE RECORD to say that in the future the charge for cattle coming to yards will be 10 cents per head straight, hogs 4 cents and sheep 5 cents. They furnish first-class pens, and all stock is looked after carefully and kept from wandering about with other stock. When you put your stuff there you know its safe.

THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1900

The big reward offered by the legislature for the apprehension and conviction of those connected with the murder of Mr. Goebel will, very properly, be placed in the hands of a committee for such expenditure as the committee sees proper. This is a wise move. If it were simply left open to be given to anyone proving the guilt of a party, it would work great harm, as with plenty of money to use, it would be no trouble to pick out some man or men and hire enough witnesses to swear them to the scaffold, guilty or not guilty. It has been often proven that money can buy testimony just as easily as anything else. Its awful to believe, but there are many men who will go upon the witness stand and swear the blindest of lies for a few paltry dollars.

The Louisville Time last week had a column headed "The Sick List." Now this is trespassing upon the rights and privileges of "we" country editors, and if Managing Editor Brown permits it again, we will move for a court martial. Only the rural roosters are entitled to keep a sick list, and the city papers will have to content themselves with prize fights and politics. If the country editors permit this offense to pass un-noticed, the city fellows will next be wanting to receive potatoes, pumpkins, etc. as pay for subscription. Desist, Bro. Brown, desist.

DURING all the recent turmoil in Kentucky, one of the few who had sense enough to keep his head closed was the Hon. John S. Rhea, now so ably representing the second district in Congress. Being out of the state, of course he could not know the true situation, so he wisely refrained from blowing off his mouth, like some others who knew absolutely nothing of the true state of case. Mr. Rhea is making a fine record in congress, and the people of his native state are proud of him.

Mr. Jno. H. Westover, the gentlemanly and capable editor of the Williamstown Courier, is meeting with much encouragement from the people of his district to become a candidate for congress. Mr. Westover is a man of brains, and would make a model representative. The sooner the people shove aside the professional politician and elect such men as Mr. Westover, the sooner the country will prosper, and not be run by a set of men whose only efforts are to be re-elected.

The Cynthia Democrat says: "The best course, it seems to us, for a country newspaper to pursue is: divide the statements of a democratic daily by two; divide the statements of a republican daily by two; add up the results and divide by two; wait a week to get the truth of the matter; then go on and express your true sentiments regardless of bluffers, and if anybody wants to stop his paper, let him stop and be d-a-z-zled."

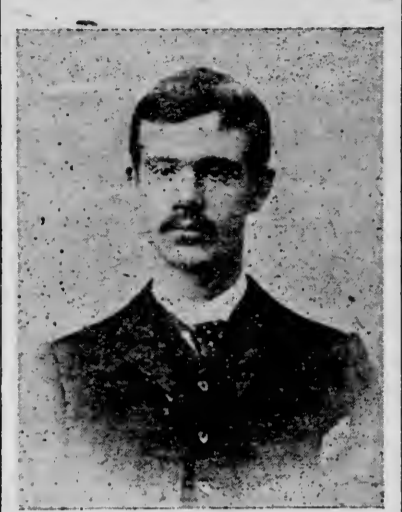

The daily papers print under horse-bill headlines what the detectives are doing (?) each day toward capturing Goebel's assassin. In the first place, the detectives would never let out any clew they may have, and secondly, any newspaper man with a thimbleful of sense would not dare foster a capture by publishing the clews. These stories are printed to sell papers, and has the desired effect.

The papers tell of a rousing reception given Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge at Toronto, where he made an address, is Banner Salve. It is made from a prescription by a world wide known skin specialist, and is positively the most healing salve for sores, burns, scalds, ulcers, running sores and all skin diseases. C. C. & J. E. WILLIAM O. OWSELEY.

A Noble Young Man Passes to the Great Beyond—A Sketch of His Life.

Scarcely had our last issue, noting his illness, been printed ere the faint spark of life had left the body of William O. Owseley. His death was a great shock to the community, as everyone had the kindest feeling for him, and those who knew him were his friends. In order that many relatives from a distance might be present at his funeral, it was not held until Sunday, at one o'clock, in the Christian church. Notwithstanding the fact that the weather was bitter cold, and a blizzard sweeping at the time, the church was crowded. Eld. Gowen's remarks were so timely and appropriate that we reproduce them in full. Several songs were sung by a choir composed of Mrs. Juliet Rogers, Mrs. Burnside, Messrs. Hemphill and Ward. The remains were then placed in the Cemetery vault. Elder Gowen said:

"W. O. Owseley was born March 11, 1866, and died Feb. 23, 1900. Had he lived until the 11th of next month he would have been thirty-four years of age. He confessed Christ during age. His father's pastor here, in a protracted meeting held by the greatest of our evangelists at that time, Dr. Winthrop Hopson, the father-in-law of President R. L. Linn. These two preachers have long since gone home to God, and now they are followed into the unseen by the youth who was led to Christ by their ministry more than two decades ago. Though intervening years of Will's life have not been what they should have been (and whose have been?) but they had no severer critic than himself. One thing can be said of Will Owseley, and that is, he was absolutely devoid of hypocrisy. He was as transparent as a sea of glass. He was abruptly frank and candid. While he carried his heart of friendship upon his sleeve, he carried his faults there also. Though neglectful of his Christian duties and reckless in conduct at times, a warm heart beat beneath his breast and he always had profound respect and reverence for sacred things and good people. He was always devoted to his mother, deferential and respectful and almost childlike in the ardor of his love. It was with him almost every day for two weeks, but at no visit did he fail to speak tenderly of her and how he hated to die only on her account. Every day and night he told his mother how much he loved her. No boy who loves his mother thus, can have a bad heart. Wild, reckless, wayward he may be, but the home-coming, self-condemning spirit he is bound to have. This is exactly true of my friend and brother."

His last weeks and months had been saturated with prayer. I have never seen greater self-renunciation, deeper penitence or contrition in my life. He humbled himself into the very dust. He would never listen for a moment to one plea, or word of apology or anything in extenuation of his guilt, from me. He said that though he was a boy when he accepted Christ, and would not take a million words like this for the joy of the remembrance that that obedience brought into his soul now. There had never been a day in his life that he had not believed in and justified Christ, and he himself was the author of all his sorrows. I never saw a more grateful soul for the kindly ministrations of friends and family in my life. Even in his weakness he called each in and thanked them for their love and service. Toward his step-father he showed the true spirit of a son, committing and commending to him his dear mother for his protection and his care. And indeed no real father could have been more tenderly and solicitously about the comfort and happiness of his own dying boy than he was about Will. For years they had been the best of friends.

I read to him from God's word and prayed with, and for him often. After repeating such passages as: "Come let us reason together; though your sins be as scarlet they shall be red like snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool;" "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life;" "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Let the wicked forsake his way and the unrighteous man his thoughts and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him, and to our God for he will abundantly pardon." "He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we were healed." "I am not come to call the righteous but sinners to repentance;" "And thus it is written and thus it behooved Christ to suffer and rise from the dead the third day that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name;" "If we say we have no sin we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins he is faithful and just to forgive our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper; but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy." When I had read these and other passages, he said, "Oh, brother Gowen, I have been so ungrateful. 'Yes,' I said, 'but Jesus is 'able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by Him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them.' He said, 'now turn and read the prodigal son to me,' and I turned and read that blessed parable that has touched so many sinner's hearts, and I said, 'that poor boy had been a son esteemed and pure, in the Father's house, but he wandered off, and wasted his substance in riotous living and reached such depth of spiritual famine that he 'began to be in want, and his wants made him think of the old home. 'He came to himself,' and then came back to the father and the father saw him while he was a 'great way off and had compassion' on him and 'ran and fell on his neck and kissed him,' and there was no second best for that poor boy that was 'lost and found,' that was 'dead and now alive again.' I said, the father did not see the rags on his back only the dear son in his heart—the image marred by sin, but the father freely forgave and restored him to the joys of salvation." And when I had thus read and spoken and prayed, Will quoted a part of the first stanza of that sweet old hymn,

"Just as I am, without one plea,
But that thy blood was shed for me,
And that thou biddest me come to thee,
O Lamb of God, I come, I come!
Just as I am, wearying not
To rid my soul of one dark blot,
To thee whose blood can cleanse each spot,
O Lamb of God, I come, I come!
Just as I am, poor, wretched, blind,
Sight, riches, healing of the mind,
Yea, all I need, in thee I find,
O Lamb of God, I come, I come!
Just as I am—thou wilt receive,
Will welcome, pardon, cleanse, relieve,
Because thy promise I believe,
O Lamb of God, I come, I come!"

and he did find joy in believing, and from that moment until the end, it was one joyous, triumphant, unquenchable, undoubting note of victory. He then begged that I might come and administer to him the Lord's supper if he should live until Sunday. He rejoiced to see that day and was glad. The Lord broke the loaf and partook of the cup believing that he would never partake of it again with him this side of the kingdom above. He was only anxious for one more Lord's day to dawn that he might partake of the supper once more, and sought my counsel about whom he should invite to administer it if I should by any chance be called away. But poor, tired soul, he did not live on earth to see this day and partake of the emblems of Christ's dying love, but, Oh, how much better to sit at the feet of His Master in the unclouded land and pour out to him his grateful heart for his unspeakable grace. He was conscious until the very last, and his last words were words of prayer and praise. With his poor parched lips he tried to repeat the passage that brought him much comfort in his last days, "Let not your heart be troubled, ye believe in God believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions. If it were not so I would have told you; I go to prepare a place for you," and with these he "fell asleep."

And what is the import of this story, the lesson of this sketch? That young people may drift away from their Father's house and forget their vows to Christ? God forbid! If those mute lips could speak they would rebuke a thousand times such a suggestion as that. Every soul is honest in the presence of the judgment, and he spoke to me and others about his regrets and how futile, how absolutely valueless are the pleasures, worldly ways and ambitions when one is called upon to "walk through the valley of the shadow." He spoke of two of his special friends with whom he wanted so much to talk that he might want them rather than that they should be encouraged to continue in sin. But the lesson is of Christ's unspeakable love which should "constrain" us to surrender sin and give him our life, our strength, our health, our vigor and the wealth and riches of our manhood. He "who is a very present help in time of trouble" deserves all—the very best we can give him.

Then, on the other hand, who begrudges the sweet peace and calm that were his of his life? Ah, where is the heart so hard that would pluck from that fond mother the hope that is worth to her more than all the heaped up jewels of the world besides?

I shall always believe that it was a special Providence that brought me from a meeting in a distant state just at the time he was praying and longing for my return. And I shall always be thankful that I could minister to him and be of some comfort and service to him, while his feet were gliding downward into the chilly waters. I am more than glad to resign him into the hands of his Father and mine—the who knows the secrets of all hearts, who can gauge the weight of every burden, and measure the strength of every temptation to which poor mortals are subject, and "Who doeth all things well."

There's a wisdom in God's mercy
Like the wisdom of the sea;
There's a kindness in his justice,
Which is more than liberty.
There's a welcome for the sinner
And more graces for the good;
They who wait for the Savior,
There is healing in his blood.
For the love of God is broader
Than the measure of man's mind;
And the heart of the Eternal
Is most wonderfully kind.
If our love were but more simple,
We might make him in the world,
And our lives would be all sunshine,
In the sweeten of the Lord."

Does it Pay to Buy Cheap.
A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles—"Roscoe's German Syrup." It not only relieves and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. For sale by C. C. & J. E. Stormes.

According to figures furnished by the Department of Agriculture the average value of the horses exported from this country during the five years from 1894 to 1898 inclusive was $3,558.968. The actual value in 1894 was $1,108,995; in '95, $2,209,298; in '96, $3,530,703; in '97, $4,769,265; in '98, $6,176,560—average as above.

We have saved many doctor bills since we began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home. We keep a bottle open all the time and whenever any of my family or myself begin to catch cold we begin to use the Cough Remedy, and as a result we never have to send away for a doctor and incur a large doctor bill, for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy never fails to cure. It is certainly a medicine of great merit and worth.—D. S. MEARLE, General Merchant and Farmer, Mattie, Bedford, county, Pa. For sale by R. E. McRoberts' druggist. 1m

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers' and grand mothers' never thought of using anything else for indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by C. C. & J. E. Stormes.

Rev. W. E. Sitzer, W. Caton, N. Y., writes, "I had dyspepsia over twenty years, and tried doctors and medicines without benefit. I was persuaded to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and it helped me from the start. I believed it to be a panacea for all forms of indigestion." It digests what you eat. F. P. Frisbie.

Here is a trick which an exchange reports. Look out for the man who plays it. He claims to be an agent for a large clothing house in Chicago and carries some few samples of goods for men's suits, which he claims to sell for $10 and are worth $40. He takes a man's measure who pays $2 down as an evidence of good faith. He represents that the goods are to be delivered in a week when the remainder is to be paid. The smart agent pockets the forfeit and that is the last of either the agent, $2 or suit of clothes.

He also feeds his milk cows cotton seed meal and there has been a decided improvement in them since he commenced. They give more and richer milk. The meal costs a little over a cent a pound and should not be fed too lavishly on the start.

The Louisville Home Journal says mule dealers and breeders are feeling quite comfortable over the trade situation in this class of stock. The depression which has existed for some time in prices of this stock, has caused many breeders to go out of the business, and many dealers to quit business. Consequently the supply of mules in the United States is probably lower than for many years. The demand by England for mules for use in the South African war has been quite heavy and stimulated prices considerably. This caused a desire among dealers to stock up again, which, added to the demand and the resulting improved prices, caused holders to stiffen up still more on their holdings. Press dispatches state that English agents bought last week in St. Louis and Kansas City 1,500 mules. It is said that in many sections the price of small mules has advanced 25 or 30 per cent.

It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of a doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) dairyman called at a drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in the left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Schulz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country. For sale by B. E. McRoberts, Druggist.

WALLACETON.

(Delayed Letter)

Mrs. Mollie Byrd, who has been quite sick for several weeks, is able to be up again.

Rotan Bros. did not fire up their mill last Saturday on account of a surplus of snow and ice, and a lack of fuel.

E. B. Wallace will soon move his saw-mill to a point about two miles southeast of Wallacetown, where he has about two months' work, after which he will move to a very large boundary of excellent timber he has bought near Mallory Springs, in Madison county.

John H. Mitchell has his new house almost completed and will soon move to it. We have not yet heard who is to be his housekeeper and are inclined to the belief that he has struck on this plan to aid him in securing a partner.

Notwithstanding the intensely cold and disagreeable weather last Saturday, the sale of the property of Mr. John Mitchell, dec'd., was attended by a fair crowd and horses, hogs and cows brought fair prices. One 2-year-old mule sold for $51.

More papers are now coming to Wallacetown each week than at any time since the establishing of a Post Office here. Quite a number of our citizens are taking from three to a half dozen weeklies, and several are also taking a daily.

Mr. Henry Bodkins, who recently moved into our community, has secured the job of carrying the mail between here and Paint Lick, beginning the first of July next. Mr. A. J. Wilson, our present carrier, also put in a bid but was under-bidden. Mr. Wilson has served with an admirable promptness, regardless of unfavorable weather, it remains so bad they can't do any farm work. Mrs. Joe Ray and Miss Lula Simpson, of Buckeye, were the guests of the latter's grandmother, Mrs. Geo. Anderson, one day last week. Mrs. Alice Austin, of near Lancaster, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Sallie Evans—while there her nine months' old baby took pneumonia and died Friday evening. We extend our sympathy to the grief stricken parents.

While out of the room last Friday the little child of Mr. and Mrs. John Duncan caught fire and burned to death. The mother heard the screams of the child and went to its assistance, but it was burned so bad it lived only a few hours. Both of these little children were the grand children of Mr. and Mrs. Lemon Evans. They were buried at the old home place, the bereaved parents have the sympathy of the community for the loss of their little ones, but their loss is the little one's gain. Mrs. Mary Montgomery, of Mt. Hebron attended the burial of her sisters children last week and also visited her mother, Mrs. Sallie Evans.

Mrs. Calvin Zimmerman, Miesburg, Pa., says, "As a speedy cure for coughs, colds, croup and sore throat One Minute Cough Cure is unequalled. It is pleasant for children to take. I heartily recommend it to mothers." It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. It cures bronchitis, pneumonia, grippe and throat and lung diseases. It will prevent consumption. F. P. Frisbie.

Born, to the wife of O. J. Hardin, a girl baby.

J. Duncan has been taking orders for a New York firm to enlarge photos. Farmers are getting impatient with

A SMALL SPOT MAY BE CANCER.

MOST VIOLENT CASES HAVE APPEARED AT FIRST AS MERE PIMPLES.

The greatest care should be given to any little sore, pimple or scratch which shows no disposition to heal under ordinary treatment. No one can tell how soon these will develop into Cancer of the worst type. So many people die from Cancer simply because they do not know just what the disease is; and are forced to submit to a cruel and dangerous operation—the only treatment which the doctors know for Cancer. The disease promptly returns, however, and is even more violent and destructive than before. Cancer is a deadly poison in the blood, and an operation, plaster, or other external treatment can have no effect whatever upon it. The cure must come from within—the last vestige of poison must be eradicated.

Mr. Wm. Wahle, of Walstown, S. D., says: "A little blotch above the size of a pea came under my left eye, gradually growing larger, from which shooting pains at intervals ran in my directions. I became greatly alarmed and consulted a good doctor, who pronounced it Cancer, and advised that it be cut out, but this I could not consent to. I read in my local paper of a cure effected by S. S. S., and decided to try it. It acted like a charm, the Cancer becoming at first irritated, and then discharging very freely. This gradually grew less and then discontinued altogether, leaving a small scar which soon dropped off, and now only a healthy little scar remains where what threatened to destroy my life once held full sway." Positively the only cure for Cancer is Swift's Specific—

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD

—because it is the only remedy which can go deep enough to reach the root of the disease and force it out of the system permanently. A surgical operation does not reach the blood—the real seat of the disease—because the blood can not be cut away. Insist upon S. S. S.; nothing can take its place. S. S. S. cures also any case of Scrofula, Eczema, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood, Poison, Ulcers, Sores, or any other form of blood disease. Valuable books on Cancer and Blood Diseases will be mailed free to any address by S. S. S. Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.
